Director's Report

As we approach the winter season, the area is facing new pandemic mitigations. The Department Head team is closely monitoring these regulations and will adjust as necessary. We have procedure in place to shift service and limit capacity even further, if required. We did not bring back in-person programming or meeting room service, which means that we do not have to cut back on group gatherings. Staff is working under a hybrid model and patrons are encouraged to use the Library as a grab and go model.

Sue Sadowski and I presented the budget to the City Council on November 2. City Council members asked questions about services and procedures. Specifically, they asked about the type of social services that are available to patrons and about equipment lending in our Library of Extraordinary Things. They also asked about whether the Library adopted the fine free model. There was a question about our general fund balance and I explained that we carry a balance that allows us to operate from January to June when we receive our first tax payment. I also reminded City Council members that the Library will be 18 years old in 2021 and we are planning our budget accordingly for a building with aging equipment and infrastructure. We also mentioned that the Library Board unanimously voted to approve a zero percent levy this year and that next year we will reduce the levy to reflect the payoff of the building bonds.

Adult Services Department

With the launch of the study rooms at the start of the month and the Creative Studio at the end of the month, October saw many patrons in the building.

Study Rooms

The study rooms opened Tuesday, October 6. In October, 319 reservations were made by 154 patrons. Usage has grown even faster in November with 180 reservations in the first 10 days alone.

Creative Studio

The Creative Studio reopened on Wed, 10/28. It was a soft opening with no marketing initially. We had 3 uses in the last 4 days of the month.

KIDS' LIBRARY October 2020

DEPARTMENT UPDATES

We continue to make connections with young children as best as we can and had a particularly great set of opportunities recently. School Services Librarian Lori Lorenz coordinated a recorded library tour for our local elementary schools, to share how they can best plan their visits to the library during the pandemic. Additionally, Lori, alongside other Kids' staff, recorded Spooky Stories for our community's students that were a huge hit! Both videos reached over 3400 students. Lastly, we had a fun interaction at the library. Young patron Cal came to visit on a Thursday morning after attending Fun for 3s, 4s, and 5s and asked to see Miss Katie. When she came out to visit with him, he performed a short piece from the Broadway musical Hamilton for her, specifically from the song "Aaron Burr, Sir."

PROGRAMS

Zoom storytimes for preschoolers have been very successful, as our storytime staff engage with over 30 folks each session. Even our youngest library friends have enjoyed storytime. Storyteller K hosted a Chicka Chicka Baby infant storytime with 13 participants that included a baby just 8 days old! Per K, "He has attended EVERY WEEK OF HIS LIFE!"

MARKETING DEPARTMENT REPORT

October 2020

October was another busy month. Work on the Winter Fine Print was in full swing. In addition to laying out the newsletter, this process requires multiple drafts to be reviewed by staff; programs are then followed up on, and after things are sent to the printer, the edits approved in the final version of Fine Print are then made in our online calendar, after which the events are officially published. It is a very involved process, but with the various members of our team contributing, it goes smoothly.

Marketing also started a new social media campaign, Bookstagrams on Instagram. Books featured on our What We're Enjoying Wednesday program are attractively photographed (and made Insta-worthy) and the recommendation made by the staffer is written up, too. It is a way to give another life to the work our staff put forth in their recommendations. We hope to make Bookstagrams a weekly addition to the Library's online presence.

Sample Bookstagram from October 29.

October Marketing Topics included:

- One Book, One Community. Continuing to promote our OBOC title, We Fed an Island by José Andrés, has been a priority. We used social media and our eNews platform to get the word out. We also worked with Elmhurst University to arrange for our giant banner to get a second use. In November it will hang on their fence at Park Ave. and Prospect Ave., a relatively high traffic area in Elmhurst. It hung at the corner of Spring Rd. and St. Charles in September.
- Voter information. Leading up to the elections, we were sure to let the public know how to research their ballot. In additional to promoting our physical binder, we shared an online list people can use to make informed choices http://elmlib.org/vote.
- Virtual Meeting Rooms. This online service provides our community with an online option for meetings since our Meeting Rooms continue to be closed.
- Joining the Friends. Unfortunately, our Friends of the Library group was unable to host their annual membership program. However, we were able to help promote the group so that new members could join and existing members remembered to renew.
- Short and Scary Writing Contest. This event was promoted as our monthly Community Connection event. In addition to asking kids to submit stories through a variety of promotions, the Kids' Library arranged for the winners to record themselves reading their stories. As of 11/13/2020, this YouTube program has 298 views! Additionally, this program was sponsored by the Friends of the Library.
