

The Mouse: You will quickly learn to use it!

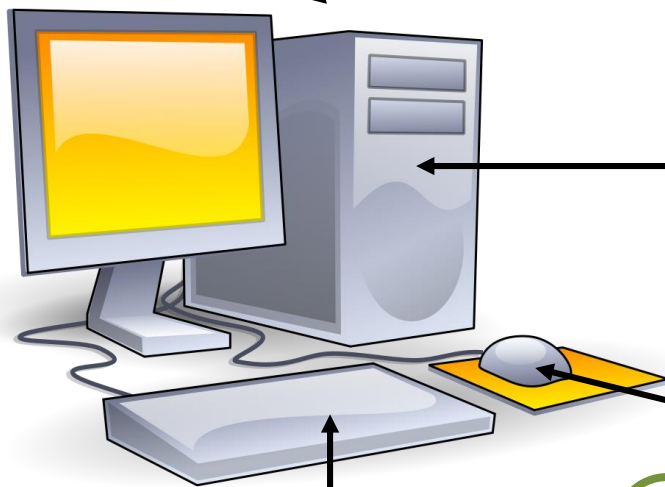

The left button of the mouse is the selection button; 95 percent of clicking will be done on this side

In the middle, most mice have a wheel; rolling the wheel backwards and forwards will cause websites to scroll up and down

The right button of a mouse brings up a list of options when clicked. These options can be used to copy and paste items, rename files, open new windows, and a lot more

Computer Parts: Just the Basics!

Monitor--Displays what's happening in computer

Tower--houses the hard drive, motherboard, and other parts which make the computer function

Mouse--used to select and move around the display

Keyboard--used to type and enter commands